

Iohannis: We have agreed upon National Recovery and Resilience Plan, Romania's development major chance

President Klaus Iohannis announced on Wednesday that the National Recovery and Resilience Plan was agreed upon, stressing that the 30 billion euros represent a chance for Romania's development and the implementation of delayed reforms for so many years.

"We have agreed, at the meeting with the leaders of the governing coalition, with the Prime Minister and the Minister of European Funds, the National Recovery and Resilience Plan, which is to be submitted to the Executive's approval and then sent to the European Commission for negotiation. The approximately 30 billion euros that we will benefit from this plan represents a major opportunity for Romania's development, an opportunity that will allow the Romanian economy and society an increased resilience in the event of future crises. At the same time, it is important to understand that this plan gives us the best context for carrying out the reforms postponed for so many years, reforms that will improve the life of every Romanian," Klaus Iohannis said.
