

Event: Sunset with Schoenherr | Finding the perfect blend of legal service and (AI powered) legal tech

General counsels are faced with an increasing number of changes and challenges that far exceed the mere delivery of legal advice. Among these there are the need to make legal services more affordable and productive, to act as business partners for their organisations, or to manage increasingly complex budgets, projects and resources.

Feared by some and already embraced by others, legal tech (now also powered by AI) brings promise to general counsels and their in-house teams. Yet, as with any new tool, the adoption of legal tech and AI solutions also depends on increasing awareness, aligning expectations and – most importantly – fostering constructive dialogue among all interested parties.

On 25 October 2023, at Kulterra Gallery Schoenherr Romania organises an event dedicated to general counsels and their in-house legal teams. The firm's lawyers and digitalisation experts, together with their guest speakers will talk about these topics and others:

- How to recognise the need for legal tech? What solutions are there for general counsels to automate tedious tasks their in-house legal teams handle?
- Buy or build legal tech? And how does the recently added AI dimension impact this decision?
- How will general counsels find the balance between human skills and legal tech/AI in their decision to outsource legal services in the (near) future?
